

Creative Destruction – Artist Emma Stibbon

Eton End School erupted with enthusiasm this week as the pupils welcomed acclaimed artist Emma Stibbon RA. During the Autumn Term every pupil from Nursery to Year 6 was involved in the cross curricular project 'Volcano'.

This was inspired by the 'Creative Destruction' exhibition at the Verey Gallery at Eton College. As part of its outreach partnership with Eton College, Eton End has explored the exhibition from a school's perspective and used it as an inspiration for a very wide range of activities in the curriculum. Every child in Years 2 to 6 will have visited the exhibition before it ends.

Emma Stibbon talked to the pupils about her travels, her work and her love of art. She then toured the school to see the work they had produced and talked personally with many of the pupils.

Artwork created by Eton End Pupils

